Mooresville, N.C. (July 27, 2011) - Brendan Gaughan is a person who thrives on being very busy. It makes one wonder why Gaughan doesn't love all short track racing as much as he loves what .686-mile Indianapolis Raceway Park has to offer. Gaughan didn't grow up racing short tracks as many of his fellow NASCAR Camping World Truck Series competitors, so, the style of racing simply isn't natural to him. But, IRP's high-groove, high-action racing converts Gaughan into a huge short track fan once per season.

“I really hope it is not the last NASCAR Camping World Truck Series race at Indianapolis Raceway Park. That would really kill me. The two short tracks I really have run the best at – one being Memphis, which is off the schedule, and now this possibility of no more IRP races...Hopefully they don't take it off the schedule. It's a great track, with a high groove. It fits my style. We've always had good runs there. Hopefully it's not the last event. If it is, I wanna go out with a bang and go out with a 'W' in our Air Force Combat Control Team Tundra,” said Gaughan.

Gaughan normally displays the black, red and gold colors of South Point Hotel & Casino on his No. 62 Toyota. For IRP, his truck will be low-profile in camouflage with a big, personal meaning.

“Our paint scheme on the No. 62 Tundra this week is going to feature the Air Force Combat Control Team. Master Sergeant Phillip Freeman, whose call-sign is 'PIMP,' is retiring in early August after many years of active duty and many tours. I'm really excited to do this with him, and with the Combat Controllers. It's a full-camo paint scheme. My dad, myself, the South Point Hotel & Casino—we all do a lot to be involved with the military. We appreciate the military. If we can get a 'W' with the special paint scheme we might have to run it more than once,” said Gaughan.
